

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

The African e-Journals Project has digitized full text of articles of eleven social science and humanities journals. This item is from the digital archive maintained by Michigan State University Library. Find more at:

<http://digital.lib.msu.edu/projects/africanjournals/>

Available through a partnership with

Scroll down to read the article.

YEMAJA EDITORIAL SERVICES

Are you writing your annual report, dissertation or your political memoirs? Do you need professional help editing the manuscript for publication? If so, look no further.

Most English language publications in Nigeria suffer from the lack of proper copy-editing. Stylistic and grammatical errors abound, and badly constructed sentences impede the free flow of information and ideas, defeating the purpose of the exercise. For the first time, an independent agency exists to flush out those embarrassing gaffes that devalue your work and make nonsense of the time and money you expended putting it together. In a world where excellence is the watchword, only the best stay ahead. Yemaja Editorial Services exists to help you do just that. The first of its kind in the country, it is run by two highly qualified editors: Adewale Maja-Pearce and Omowunmi Segun. Maja-Pearce is a writer and former editor of the UK based Heinemann African Writers' Series', where he succeeded Chinua Achebe. He is also the author of numerous books and a regular contributor to local and foreign publications, including the London Review of Books, Granta and the Atlantic Monthly. He has also been a consultant for a number of international organizations, including UNICEF. He holds an M. A. from the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London. Segun is author of the novel, The Third Dimple, which won the Association of Nigerian

Authors (ANA) Prize for Prose and was shortlisted for the Commonwealth Writers' Prize in the category 'Best First Book' (Africa Region - 1993). She has worked as a documentalist in the French Institute for Research in Africa (IFRA) and as the Library and Information Manager in the British Council, where she is currently a consultant. Segun holds Masters Degrees in Library Studies and French from the University of Ibadan.

We work on all types of documents:

- Annual reports
- Articles
- Books
- Brochures
- Business reports
- Dissertations
- Instructional materials
- Manuals
- Marketing materials
- Newsletters
- Novels
- Presentations
- Proceedings
- Professional papers
- Proposals
- Translated materials

All enquiries will be dealt with in the strictest confidence.

For further details, contact our editorial services:
11, Abiona Close, Off Falolu Road, Surulere, Lagos.
01-5456521, 08023061634, 08023096492, 08023132692

Or e-mail: majapearce@yahoo.com or yemaja-ng@yahoo.co.uk