AT last, a book, which edifies the effortless grace of the Harlem of Africa! IBADAN MESIOGÓ...is a major collection of some of the most significant creative writers who have lived in and drawn their imaginative energies from the largest ancient city south of the Sahara within the past five decades of Nigeria's history. Part descriptive, part historicizing, and part celebratory, IBADAN is an authentic insiders' views of the rust and the gold, of the complex interfaces of the ancient and the modern; at once lyrical and interrogative, at once realistic and romantic, this anthology invites you to behold the hills and the valleys, the people and the spirit of an African city still undergoing transformation.
