ANNOUNCING A MAJOR INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

Strategies for democratic renewal: an international agenda for citizen action and community development

April 8-12 1999, Edinburgh, Scotland

A new opportunity for delegates from every region of the world to meet and discuss issues key to the role and place of community development.

- Expert panels organised and chaired by key organisations (groups so far confirmed include Combined European Bureau for Social Development; Standing Conference for Community Development; Community Development Journal, with invitations extended to other national and regional groups)
- High profile international plenary speakers
- Regional interest groups
- Focused workshops on themes such as housing, gender, social welfare, poverty, building networks, environmental issues
- Publishers' exhibitions
- Visits to local community organisations

The conference will also see the relaunch of the International Association for Community Development, an international membership organisation speaking for community development and with consulting status with UN organisations.

It is possible that some financial help will be available for low income delegates. Enquire at the address below for further information.

Establishing, broadening and maintaining democracy in Africa is an issue with world-wide implications. On the continent itself, democracy is a vital issue, precisely because the majority of Africans have been reduced to virtual outlaws, with little or no rights in their own countries. This process has been driven by their own governments.

Atrocities, suppression, and violence have occurred all over the continent in the suppression of democratic freedom. What is astounding is that after such suffering, the threshold of tolerance breaks and citizens seek ways to exercise some freedom from daily oppression.

Nigeria, particularly in its current state, is no exception. Written by African social scientists, Expanding Democratic Space in Nigeria makes an essential contribution to the ongoing debate and analysis of the potential for barriers to democratic space. Chapters highlight the role of different interest groups, the implications of the country's colonial past and the legacy of the military, the role of the mass media and women's participation in the political arena. Intellectuals, trade unions, human rights organisations and young people are all featured, as they take place in what the authors see as an inevitable move towards a freer state.

Notes for Contributors:
All correspondence should be addressed to:
The Editor
Journal of Social Development in Africa
School of Social Work
P Bag 66022
Kopje, Harare
Zimbabwe.

Format for Submissions:
Contributions that further the aims of the Journal are welcomed, and will be refereed. Manuscripts should be typed single-sided on A4 paper, double-spaced. Two copies of the article should be submitted and the author's name, affiliation and address should be attached to the cover, to facilitate anonymity in the refereeing of the article. One copy should be of good quality print, preferably laser-printed, although this is not essential. The article can also be sent on computer disc, in WP51, MS Word or Mac format.

Articles in general should be of 8-9,000 words in length. However longer as well as shorter articles will be published if justified by the content of the contribution. The article should begin with an abstract of approximately 150 - 200 words.

Within the body of the text references to authors is made by author, date and page number in the following way:

Makola (1982:67) indicates that: "...social development is necessary in the context of the developing world," agreeing with the view of Nkosana (1981).

Bibliographical references follow the body of the text and should be listed alphabetically and chronologically by author and date: in the case of books, by title, publisher and place of publication; in the case of articles by full journal name, volume, and first plus last page numbers; in the case of chapters, by title, collection title, editor, publisher and place of publication. Examples follow:
