PUBLICATION GUIDELINES:

We ask contributors to submit two (2) typed copies, following the format (on such issues as references and notes) of articles in this issue of TRANSFORMATION. Whilst the journal will cater for work at any level of abstraction, or detail, a number of criteria will guide the editors in selection of material for inclusion. Articles should aim for academic rigour but also clarify the political implications of the issues discussed. We are concerned not to compete with other South African journals that may cover related ground but in different ways - this will govern our selection principles. All articles will be assessed anonymously by the referees. Contributions should preferably not exceed the following lengths:

Analytical articles: 7 000 words

Debates and review articles: 3 000 words

The views expressed in TRANSFORMATION do not necessarily reflect those of the editors.

Commentary

THE RDP WHITE PAPER: RECONSTRUCTION OF A DEVELOPMENT VISION	1
--	---

Unlike the based RDP Document, argue ASGHAR ADELZADEH AND VISHNU PADAYACHEE, the White Paper is a bad augury for the Left. It lacks coherence and vision and gives away far too much to the free marketeers.

'POLITICS AND ECONOMICS IN ANC ECONOMIC POLICY': AN ALTERNATIVE ASSESSMENT	19

For BEN FINE, a key writer on current economic policy issues is Nici Natrass, who seeks to bring ANC politics and business-friendly economics together. Fine argues that Natrass' contributions, if adopted as policy, would hobble the efforts of the ANC, even from the standpoint of genuine social democracy.

Articles

PARTICIPATORY RESEARCH AND DEMOCRATIC AGRARIAN TRANSFORMATION: THE CASE OF THE EASTERN TRANSVAAL CENTRAL LOWVELD	34
--	----

Using his own research in this region as a model, RICHARD LEVIN suggests that participatory research yields very different results in the key reform area of land issues than top-down approaches which remain characteristic of policy procedures.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO GENDER IN REGIONAL DEVELOPMENT ANALYSIS? EXAMPLES FROM KWA ZULU/NATAL58

ALISON TODES AND DORI POSEL question conventional policy discourse as well, focussing on the special challenges posed by gender issues. They use the example of regional planning in Kwa Zulu Natal for their focus.

WOMEN AND THE LABOUR MARKET: CHALLENGES POSED FOR JOB-CREATION POLICY79

In pinpointing the weak position of women in the economy, PAT HORN emphasises that the greatest need is in women-led organisation

Debate

COMMENTS ON ZARINA MAHARAJ'S 'SUBVERSIVE INTENT: A SOCIAL THEORY OF GENDER'88
--	-----

CHERRYL WALKER feels that Zarina Maharaj has been less subversive and more contradictory than she would like in theorising gender.

EMPOWERMENT THROUGH DELIVERY SYSTEMS93

SIVI GOUNDEN AND ANDREW MERRIFIELD address the housing policy practitioners and suggest that delivery systems in the housing field, depending how they are produced, can deliver popular empowerment and work against community violence.

Review

SOUTH AFRICAN LABOUR: A MODERNISED MARXIST APPROACH103
--	------

Eddie Webster et al's Work and Industrialisation in South Africa: An Introductory Reader is reviewed by PETER WATERMAN.

Editorial

Commentary

In this issue of Transformation, we are introducing a new category of contributions: commentaries. In the present context, nothing is more salient than debate about changing state policies. However, the nature of such discussion does not permit direct debate with the state nor does it necessarily begin with a particular written paper mapping out policy. Therefore pieces such as those by Adelzadeh and Padayachee as well as that by Fine, require a new form of spotlight. We very much welcome equivalent contributions of an academically strong quality that would fit this section of the journal in future.
