Articles submitted should not have been previously published.

The Editorial Committee also welcomes short reports on research in progress and brief research notes. These will be published in a new journal of the Institute of African Studies, entitled Research Notes and Queries.

Editor's Note

In this issue of the Research Review we continue our recent practice of building issues around themes and disciplinary areas. Vol. 15 No. 2 includes papers originally given at Institute seminars around the social anthropology of hunger, disease, maternal and child health and AIDS. It is expected that Vol. 16 No. 1 will be concerned with religion, while Vol. 16 No. 2 will be concerned with language and literature.
