PUBLICATION GUIDELINES:
We ask contributors to submit two (2) typed copies, following the format (on such issues as references and notes) of articles in this issue of TRANSFORMATION. Whilst the journal will cater for work at any level of abstraction, or detail, a number of criteria will guide the editors in selection of material for inclusion. Articles should aim for academic rigour but also clarify the political implications of the issues discussed. We are concerned not to compete with other South African journals that may cover related ground but in different ways: this will also govern our selection principles.

All contributions will be assessed anonymously by referees. Contributions should preferably not exceed the following lengths:

- analytical articles: 7000 words
- debates and review articles: 3000 words

The views expressed in TRANSFORMATION do not necessarily reflect those of the editors.

ARTICLES

STATE REFORM POLICY IN SOUTH AFRICA
Mike Morris and Vishnu Padayachee

MORRIS AND PADAYACHEE explore the nature of the state 'reform' process, how it is itself being transformed and how it relates to the accumulation crisis that South African capitalism is experiencing.

'A BLACK COUP' - INKATHA AND THE SALE OF ILANGA
Alison Gillwald

The black press in South Africa influences hundreds of thousands of readers in English and indigenous languages. GILLWALD considers the Durban-based and Inkatha-owned newspaper Ilanga and how it appears to succeed despite the political odds.

PHILOSOPHY AND THE CRISIS IN SOUTH AFRICA
M A Nupen

For NUPEN, the work of Rick Turner, the Durban political philosopher assassinated ten years ago, inspires the argument that philosophy in South Africa must play the role of creating a public and practical discourse that can promote critical rationality and widen democratic debate.

EDUCATION STRUGGLES IN NATAL/KWAZULU:
Teachers and school committees
Robert Morrell

Radical teachers' organisations have had a somewhat abortive start in South Africa while conservative organisations seem to persist. MORRELL examines the situation of black teachers in attempting to explain this phenomenon.
DEBATE

THE STATE OF APARTHEID:
Assessing sanctions at year one
Mike Fleshman and Jim Cason

MOVING FORWARD ON SANCTIONS:
A view from Inside South Africa
Stephen Gelb

In an article originally published in Canada, FLESHMAN and CASON set forth the argument for total sanctions as promoted in activist anti-apartheid circles overseas. GELB considers the relevance of their critique of alternative strategies.

A REFLECTION ON THE VON HOLDT-PLAUT DEBATE
Daryl Glaser

TRANSFORMATION has been contributing to an ongoing debate about South African trade union politics. GLASER suggests that neither the workerists nor the populists, so-called, present an adequate approach to the issue of democracy in a future South Africa.

RESPONSE TO SPIEGEL
Ari Sitas

Andrew Spiegel's reply (TRANSFORMATION 6 1988) to Sitas' contribution on worker poetry in Natal receives a reply from SITAS in turn.
